SCHOOL WEEK

▶ THE NEED for the public school never changes, but times and conditions may change or require to be changed methods and practices of public education. This is inherent with anything that grows, for growth is the result of change.

Our Texas public schools were created 104 years ago. In 1854 the first law passed establishing the public school

It is a healthy thing in our democratic way of life to have intelligent understanding of the important functions of our basic institutions. This is especially true of the schools. The initiative and resourcefulness and the wisdom and leadership that our schools are inculcating in the youth of today are the answer of the problems of citizenship in the years ahead.

Yes, "bring me men to match my mountains." That is the need of our times and must come from the public schools — schools that are strong in virtues required for building strong men and women.

We can be assured of this and do our part in understanding and helping the public schools to fulfill their great obligation to our times by being a participant in the annual Public Schools Week, March 3 through 7. Schools will hold open house; accept their hospitality, and you will enjoy the experience of going back to school—if but for a day.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

All of us have heard these comments at one time or another. Chances are, too, that they killed many a good idea which later proved to be workable by someone else. Watch for them the next time you meet to discuss some new proposal.

We tried that once before.

It costs too much.

We've never done it that way.

That's not our responsibility.

We're not ready for that.

We're doing all right without it.

It won't work.

▶ MAN IS inclined, when in the wrong, to lay the blame on someone else. He is like the small boy who was standing on the cat's tail. The mother, hearing the terrible outburst, called from an adjoining room, "Tommie, stop pulling that cat's tail!" Tommie yelled back, "I'm not pulling the cat's tail; I'm only standing on it. He's the one that's doing the pulling."

Mrs. J. F. Bone was in Howe recently, visiting Mrs. Annie Slaughter.

Hearing Set In County Court On Boat Case

A hearing has been set in County Court here for March 17 concerning a controversary between a Collin county fisherman and a Dallas boatman.

A charge of aggravated assault against Ralph McGauhy of Dallas, was filed in Judge W. E. Button's court, after being accepted by T. E. Williams, assistant district attorney.

The complaint was signed by Bryan Vicars, of near Wylie. This is one of the first cases of its kind, ever tried in Collin County, and probably the first of its type in the state.

Vicars told Williams that last Saturday, when he and his father were fishing on Lake Lavon, a fast outboard boat made repeated passes at his fishing boat which was tied up to snags, broke it loose, came near swamping it and endangered their lives.

Vicars said he threw charcoal briquets at the boatman in an attempt to drive him off.

Aggravated assault is a misdemeanor with conviction being punishable by fine from $25 to $1,000 and up to two years in jail, Williams said.

There are no laws in Texas regarding boat traffic on inland waters, Williams said. A bill providing for such failed of passage in the last Legislature.

Thus, Williams said, the local case is something of legal pioneering which could affect boat traffic conduct on the big lakes in North Texas.

Two MenCharged With Raping 15-Year-Old Girl

A 15-year-old Dallas County girl alleged she was raped twice Friday night by two Dallas County men, in a statement to Criminal Investigator Frank Haddix here Saturday morning.

The girl and her companion related the story that they were picked up earlier in Dallas by the two men, who got some beer and then drove them to Collin County to a pasture, off the main highway.

One of the couples left the car during which time the 15-year-old girl was raped. Later the other man returned to the car and raped the girl.

Returning to Dallas county, the girls were released. They walked to a cafe, where a waitress notified Dallas police, who called officers in this county. Sheriff Williams went to Dallas after the girls, bringing them here early Saturday to make their statements. He then filed charges against two Dallas County men, both past 20 years of age.

County Chairman For Red Cross Drive Named

The President of the United States, Dwight D. Eisenhower, has designated March as official Red Cross Month and opened the 1958 Fund Campaign with an appeal for its support last Friday night when he talked to the people of the nation via radio and television.

R. K. Hollas, Frisco, Collin County 1958 Fund Chairman, and his vice chairman, Chester G. Hays, Porsper, Texas, have appointed chairmen in the various towns in Collin County where they now have the campaign underway. Mr. Hollis said he is extremely gratified with the enthusiasm expressed by those who had accepted leadership responsibility for the campaign this year. His appointments are:

Melissa, Mrs. George W. Moore Jr.
Blue Ridge, Fulman Pritchard.
Westminster, L. B. Corley.
Anna, Earl Powell.
Weston, Mrs. Bailey Dickerson.
Chambersville, W. L. Craighead.
Celina and Alla, Jack Eoff.
Texas Research Foundation, Fred Shaw.
Lavon, Mrs. Edith Smith and Miss Helen Webb.
Josephine, Rev. McFathridge.
Nevada, George Webb.
Copeville, Mrs. C. D. Watson.
Farmersville, Rayford Jackson.
Allen, Roy A. Hefner Jr.
Forest Grove, Mrs. Ed Lodar.
Winningcoff, Mrs. Billye McDonald.
Lucas, Earl Jones.
Parker, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Dilehay.

The county quota this year amounts to $14,388, which is 0283 less than the 1957 quota, reminded Mr. Hollas. However, he reminds, that each individual must take full responsibility for the success of the campaign if Collin County is to raise the funds needed to meet its own chapter budget and that of the national organization.

Mr. Hollas pointed out that last April the Red Cross spent $11,215.49 in Collin County to meet the needs of disaster victims of the April 2, 1957 tornado which struck in east McKinney, Melissa, and Anna. He urges each individual to be a contributor by and to open his heart and purse to the Red Cross during March that the funds necessary to carry on the 10 Red Cross services can be raised.

56.30 per cent of the total funds raised will remain in Collin County with the remainder going to the national organization. This means that if the quota is raised Collin County Red Cross Chapter will keep $8,100 to be used in Collin County. Mr. Hollas expressed confidence in the leaders and volunteers as well as the chapter officers and board members that everything possible will be done to raise the total quota this year during March.

McKinney, Plano, Wylie, Prosper, Princeton and Frisco conducted United or Combined Fund Drives during October, 1957 and funds for all agencies were included in the October drives. The Collin County Red Cross Chapter was one of the participating agencies in these drives which explains why Mr. Hollas and Mr. Hays have made no appointments in these towns. Funds for the American Red Cross were raised in these towns last October.

HOME GARDEN TIME.

Has the "garden fever" hit you yet? These tips on gardening will help you enjoy your 1958 gardening effort.

1. Plan your garden in advance.

2. Keep the garden small. It is a lot easier to plant a garden than it is to control the weeds.

3. Make a succession of plantings. The idea here is to stagger the plantings so as to have a continuous supply of top quality vegetables.

4. Plant a variety of vegetable crops. There are 32 vegetables that can be grown in Texas gardens. We suggest that you plant at least 10 or 12. There is a lot more to it than this, of course. So check by our office and get the information on gardening that we have for you.

PUBLICATION ON COTTONSEED TREATMENT AVAILABLE.

Seedling diseases account for yield losses of about two to two and one-half percent of the potential cotton crop each year in Texas. These lossess can be greatly reduced by proper seed treatment with an approved chemical. Such treatment helps prevent seed decay and damping-off from both seed and soil-borne organisms.

This treatment is the theme of a leaflet recently released by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, "Cottonseed Treatment for Texas."

For effective protection, the chemical should be mixed with the seed in such a way that it is spread uniformly over the entire seed surface, according to the leaflet. Special machines fosr larges scale seed treatment are available for applications as a slurry, liquid or dust.

The importance of following the recommended rate of the chemicals to be used is emphasized. A smaller amount would give ineffective results while a larger amount could damage the seed. A poor job of seed treatment is often little better than no treatment at all.

The resuslts of cottonsesed treatment tests with acid-delinted and reginned seed, and recommendatiosns as the materials to be used as the rates for effective treatments are given in the leaflet.

LARKSPUR.

Larkspur is very valuable because of its rich-blue flowers, as blue flowers are comparatively rare among cultivated plants. The flowers are of various other colors, and one species produces red flowers. The flowers are single or double. The taller varieties, which may reach a height of 48 inches, are valuable for bedding and borders as well as for cut flowers. Other varieties only about 18 inches high are even better for bedding purposes. Larkspur is easily grown, but it does best in a rather cool, moist soil. The seeds may be sown either in late fall or in very early spring in some localities, but preferably the former, so that they will be ready to germinate early in the spring. The seedlings should be thinned to stand 6 to 8 inches apart depending upon the variety.

LUPINE.

Lupine is a blue-, rose-, or white flowered, hard annual that succeeds well in the sun. It may grow to about 24 inches height and is useful in mixed borders, in beds, and for cutting. Seeds should be sown in the open ground just as soon as possible in the spring or earlier in flats indoors.

NEWS FROM THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS — of — THE COLLIN CO. SOIL CONSERVATION DIST.

Sweetclovers as a dependable soil improving crop is being recommended by many farmers at the approach of the early spring planting season. More farmers realize the value of clovers each year when they see increased yields resulting from these crops.

John Wells, supervisor of the Collin Soil Conservation District states that "We have made a mistake in the past by selling farmers on the cash crop aspect of clover. We should have been stressing the 4 to 5 year carryover soil conditioning benefits of clover for other crops." Farmers planning to put in clover acreages this spring will be more than repaid by the increased yields of crops they put on those same acreages the following.

Hubam and Madrid sweet clovers are used in crop rotations in the blackland. Each has a definite place since Hubam is a one year plant and Madrid grows two years before making seed. Sweetclovers are popular as a soil building crop when painted alone and overseeding small grains. These legumes not only add nitrogen to the soil, but deep-rooted plants loosen the soil, making it easier to plow and takes up water much better.

According to technicians of the Soil Conservation Service, phosphate fertilizer is important in making any clover planting a success. The blackland soils of this area show by soil analysis to be low in available phosphate. An application of approximately 200 pounds of 20% superphosphate or equipvalent should be used. Planting rate recommended in this area is 15 pounds of good quality seed per acre. Inoculate seed with proper inoculant at time of planting.

February 13, 1958

TO THE FUNERAL DIRECTORS AND EMBALMERS OF TEXAS:

I advised you by letter on January 25, 1958 that a change had been made in the rule governing solicitation by Board action taken January 16, 1958, and that a public hearing would be held in Dallas, Texas, February 11, 1958, thereon. The public meeting was held, as scheduled, and the rule change as sent to you in my letter went into effect February 11, 1958.

Resultant to the questions asked, and opinions expressed at the public hearing and in response to the request of the Board of Directors of the Texas Funeral Directors and Embalmers Association, which group sponsored the rule change, the Board added a definitive paragraph to Subsection (c). Rule 3, Section 6, B, (3) (c), on solicitation now stands as follows:

(c) Solicitation.

No licensee, apprentice, or any other person, whether employee, agent or representative, or one in any manner associated with a funeral establishment, shall solicit business or offer any inducement, pecuniary or otherwise, for the purpose of securing or attempting to secure business for such funeral establishment; such persons shall not issue any gift certificate, or discount certificate, or offer, or give, any discount for the purpose of obtaining funeral business; and such persons shall not use donations, gifts, bonuses or acts of service designed, or calculated, to place the recipient, or his or her family, or relatives, in a position of obligation or indebtedness to the donor, or the funeral establishment to which such persons are related, and such persons shall not transfer, or offer to transfer, any property or service as payment or as token consideration, for business secured, or influenced, or otherwise provided such funeral establishment, or in promise thereof. Included in the above paragraph and prohibited are free ambulance service, free hospital beds, free wheel-chairs, free oxygen or oxygen equipment, or charges made therefor at discount, but not to the exclusion of any other acts, services or specific items of value which otherwise are included therein, by the provisions thereof.

Your cooperation in observing the spirit of this new rule is requested and urged. A desire to raise our standards is the first step in actually doing anything about it. You may write to the Executive Secretary, if doubt exists in your mind as to whether or not certain practices are permitted or prohibited under this rule. The Board will, in course, attempt to clarify the application of the rule to the practices mentioned.

Very truly yours,
T. E. SCHIER, President

TO COMPLY WITH RULING OF STATE BOARD OF MORTICIANS, IT IS NECESSARY FOR US TO CHARGE FOR

AMBULANCE SERVICE

We have been notified by the State Board of Morticians (See letter at left) that all licensed funeral homes in Texas will be required to charge for Ambulance Services. This decision leaves us no choice other than to comply. However, minimum, very reasonable charges have been set up and the very finest of ambulance service will be maintained. We know that we can count upon your understanding in this matter and your continued fine cooperation. Thank you.

SCALE OF CHARGES FOR AMBULANCE SERVICE

All other calls will be 35 cents per mile, one way.

(Same rate applies to passenger car service for patients, to or from, clinics and hospitals.)

Trophies Given Winners In School Tourney

The Community girls and Allen boys won championships in the Melissa Freshman and Sophomore Basketball Tournament at the Melissa gym Consolation championships were won by the Melissa girls and the Community boys.

The Frisco boys team was awarded a trophy for team sportsmanship.

A total of 17 teams were entered in the week long tourney which opened Monday night.

The Community girls edged Celeste 54-52 for the championship after a thrilling battle that saw Community take a commanding lead early in the game. A Celeste rally, however, very nearly erased the Community advantage.

In the boys' championship game the Allen quintet was forced into an overtime period before winning 58-53 over Melissa. At the end of the regulation four quarters the score was tied at 52 all.

The Melissa girls copped the consolation championship with a 69-60 win over Allen while the Community boys took Bland 39-33 for the consolation title in their division.

All-tournament teams selected by officials were as follows:

Girls—Forwards, Watkins, Prosper; Page, Community, and Rouch, Celeste; Guards, White, Community, Chapman, Princeton, and Ritter, Melissa.

Boys—Day, Allen; Rhea, Frisco; Bailey, Prosper; Kindle, Melissa, and McTee, Blue Ridge.

Trophies for the tournament were donated by Johnson Furniture Co., McKinney Drug Co. North Side Pharmacy, Howell Appliance and Furniture and Collin County Motor Co., all of McKinney; Powell Gin and Grain Co. of Anna, and Oak Farms Dairies.

LeRoy Steffy of Steffy's Jiffy Dog Stand, McKinney, donated gold basketballs which were awarded those named on all-tournament teams.

Celina Loses Region To Wylie Cagers

The Celina Bobcats missed a spot in the Region III-B basketball basketball tournament by two points, falling by a 37-35 margin to Wylie at Plano Gym.

A shot by Celina's Joe Svoboda fell short at the buzzer. If that shot had fallen in, the score would have been tied and the resurging Bobcats might have taken command in the overtime.

William Smith led Celina with 13 points and gathered in 17 rebounds. His taller opponent from Wylie—6-5 Gene Lamb—tallied 17 points but could get anly 10 rebounds.

A spirited rally by Celina in the fourth quarter almost pulled the game out of the fire. Wylie led by seven points going into the final period but a full-court press by the Bogcats almost turned the trick.

The Celina offense was cripped badly when Smith fouled out with about four minutes left in the game.

Do's And Don'ts For Safe--And Dry Boating

With thousands of square miles of open water available to boating enthusiasts, it is sometimes hard to believe that boating accidents are possible.

The Evinrude Boating Foundation has compiled a list of do's and don'ts which, if followed, will keep novices and "old hands" safe afloat —and dry.

• • •

DO'S . . .

Do—Check maximum horsepower rating of your boat as recommended by the Outboard Boating Club of America, or make certain your boat and motor are "balanced."

Do—Step aboard a boat as nearly to the center as possible. Keep lines taut or have someone steady the boat.

Do—Fill your tank carefully with a minimum of splashing and spilling.

Do—Carry one Coast Guard approved life preserver for every person aboard.

Do—Learn basic signs of impending weather changes. Always head for shelter at the first sign of an approaching storm or squall.

Do—Cross the wake of a large boat at a safe angle if avoiding it completely is impossible.

Do—Punch holes in both ends of beer cans so that they will not float. Sink them only in deep areas in lakes so that they won't harm swimming, swimmers and small craft.

Do—Slow down or stop before changing position or standing in a boat.

Do—Bring your boat into harbors and docks at low speed and respect the property of others.

• • •

DON'TS . . .

Don't—Buy a boat without regard to the load or horsepower the boat can stand safely. Never crowd a small boat beyond its obvious or stated capacity. The number of seats in a boat do not indicate capacity.

Don't—Jump aboard. You may go through the hull. Don't step on the gunwale; you'll spread-eagle into the drink.

Don't—Smoke while filling a gas tank.

Don't — Ignore weather signs such as dark clouds gathering, rapid changes of temperature.

Don't—"Run" from waves in a rain storm. Always keep your boat headed into large waves.

Don't—Be a "cowboy" with your boat at anytime. Don't take your boat too close to swimmers. Never "run down" another boat or a swimmer, "just for fun." Your boat has no brakes.

Don't — Throw floating refuse overboard to drift on beaches.

Don't — Ever stand upon or change seats in a fast-moving boat.

Don't — "Cowboy" your boat around other craft through a crowded anchorage or at dockside.

Supt. Pearce Invited To Evaluate National Educators Conference

Supt. Hailds Pearce has been invited to the National Association of School Administrators which meets March 8 through the 11th in San Francisco, Calif. He was asked to evaluate the meeting, being one of the few school administrators throughout the country, invited to participate in this important conference.

Due to the school building program in progress in McKinney at this time, Supt. Pearce states if the local school building program permits, he hopes to attend the meeting.

Superintendent Pearce is considered one of the outstanding educators in the state, and McKinney schools are honored that their administrator should be among the few chosen by the national organization for such responsibility.

Mrs. Tom Allen, Jr., is confined to her home with the flu.

Memorial Hospital To Meet Standards For Accreditation

Dr. J. C. Erwin, Jr., of McKinney, and W. S. Nichols, Administrator of City-County Hospital, attended the institute on hospital accreditation in Austin last week. The institute was jointly sponsored by the Texas Medical Association, Texas Hospital Association, and the Private Clinics and Hospital Association of Texas; and had as its main purpose the dissemination of information regarding the standards to be met by hospitals who desire to be listed with the committee on accreditation.

Dr. Kenneth Babcock, M.D., who is the Director of the Joint Commission on accreditation of hospitals spoke on "short comings most frequently found when making an accreditation inspection." He stated that the joint commission on accreditation of hospitals had established minimum standards for patient care which if followed constantly and carefully insures fine patient protection and care, he further stated that in order for a hospital to receive accreditation, doctors must want it and work to have it. Medical Staff organization must be good with all committees active, especially the tissue committees, and with doctor's privileges in surgery in line with their proven ability to perform.

Mr. Nicholas reports that the Collin Memorial Hospital will meet the standards regarding the physical plant and equipment, and that he is encouraged to believe that adequate trained personnel can be secured to meet the required standards for each department of the hospital after the new plant is opened. He reports the Medical Staff, the Governing Board and the Administration are working together for a fully accredited hospital and that shortly after moving to the Collin Memorial Hospital, can ask for inspection with confidence in the final result.

Good Buildings And Good Teachers Result In Good Schools

School building needs, how to get and keep good teachers and financing, building and operating schools, are outlined below:

Replacement of obsolete school plants.

Enlargement of sites that are too small.

Modernization of old buildings.

Construction of new plants to accommodate an increasing scholastic population.

Buildings should be flexible and expandable.

Long range needs of the school be considered.

Comfort, function, safety, and long-range maintenance problems of the school should be kept in mind.

The most important factor to be considered is the child's needs.

Further study of school building utilization, both on local and state level, would be helpful. Such a study should include consideration of the following possibilities:

Extended school year.

Six-day week.

Staggered school hours—using 10 periods a day.

Eliminate ½-day sessions.

Reduce number of electives, leaving room for basic subjects.

Determination of school building needs should be a local matter. Maximum use of lay committees should be made in studying these needs.

The State Department of Education should continue to provide information, research, and consultative services in connection with the school plant problems of local school districts.

School buildings and grounds should be planned with consideration for community recreation and adult education programs.

Enchancing the prestige of teachers and improving their status in the community.

Lessening the classroom teaching and extra-excurricular load and using teacher aids for routine clerical duties.

Scholarships for prospective teachers and for teachers in the profession who want to do further graduate study.

Building a better attitude toward the profession by persons employed in education.

Reorganizing college and university teacher education programs as needed in order to produce well-qualified teachers.

Improving public relations and securing more cooperation between school and lay citizens.

Improving professional standards.

Encouraging former teachers to re-enter the profession.

Studying the possibilities of paying teachers on the basis of merit and achievement rather than on a single salary basis.

Giving more recognition to teachers now on the job.

School support should be provided by local school districts and the State.

Re-evaluate all property for tax purposes in order that local school districts may gain additional financial suport.

Make a comprehensive study of the State and local government tax structure.

Further improvement of the Texas Minimum Foundation Program should be made.

Sheriff Floyd Williams went to Henderson Wednesday after a man wanted here on charges of theft. Mrs. Williams accompanied him on the trip.

Mrs. Ray G. Harris is able to be us after several days illness at her home on Davis Street.

Collin Banker Named "Man Of The Month"

C. TRUETT SMITH

C. Truett Smith, Wylie banker and civic leader, has been named "Man of the Month" for March by the East Texas Chamber of Commerce. The following item in the March issue of the East Texas magazine, publication of ETEX CC, pays merited tribute to the outstanding young man for his many accomplishments as a business man, civic leader and church layman:

It is easy to say nice things about a man like our Man of the Month for March. And it is easy to see why Truett Smith has become a leader in his own home town and in the territory that surrounds it. While others might have left home to seek their fortunes in greener pastures, Truett Smith chose to stay close to home and bend his efforts towards making his own town's pastures greener. In that, as in other things, he has succeeded. But fortunately he didn't stop there, as many another city and town in that section of East Texas will readily testify.

Truett Smith was born at Old St. Paul about four miles north of Wylie, where he now lives and where he is president of Wylie's First State Bank. He is the son of Mrs. Stephen Wesley Smith and the late Mr. Smith. He began his education at Morris, a country school. His graduation from Wylie High School in the middle of the depression left him no choice but to go to work.

He took a job on the Ferris Wheel, the newpaper in Ferris, Texas, and started to learn the printing business. Later he moved to the Garland News, where he worked for W. H. Bradfield until 1942 when Uncle Sam called.

In order to enjoy a few weeks of vacation, Truett resigned from his job and "lived up" most of his savings, knowing that he would be in uniform in a short time. He even sold his golf clubs! Then three months later the medics decided his pulse was too fast.

By this time his job at the Garland News had been filled, but they took him back at another job. Then followed a connection with the First National Bank at Garland, where A. R. "Rip" Davis taught him the banking business.

Truett was an apt pupil. He took to banking from the start, and he also learned another thing from "Rip" Davis. He learned the value and satisfaction and individual can gain from civic work.

Truett Smith realized before long that his home town was suffering from a lack of banking facilities; so in 1945 he and businessmen of Wylie organized the First State Bank.

Truett realized also that Wylie needed a newspaper, for it along with the bank had gone out with the depression. So a newspaper was started with Burton Fielder as owner, but with a limited knowledge of the business, he depended upon Truett for a lot of assistance.

During the early morning hours and late at night, Truett operated the linotype. After things began to improve, Mr. Fielder bought the Farmersville Times and sold the Wylie paper to four businessmen in Wylie; so Truett Smith again became a linotype operator, with hours late and early, as before.

About this time the water problem was becoming more acute, and work toward building a large reservoir was begun. It was no easy job to handle the proper financing, political support, and all the other matters concerned with a project so tremendous but Truett Smith always did more than his part.

Following the assurance that a dam would be built, came the task of making it a conservation reservoir as well as a flood control project. Here again Truett Smith was in the thick of the business. The North Texas Municipal Water District was formed, and Truett serves this district as secretary-treasurer.

He has worked with the East Fork Association to conserve the water during the drought years as well as to plan for its future use, and the Wylie industrial district is still another result of such forward planning.

Truett Smith helped to organize the Wylie Chamber of Commerce and served as its president. He has been elected twice as a vice president of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Truett and his wife Rita are known and loved throughout the area in both church and civic circles.

Collin Army Officer Cited For Achievement

Headquarters Third United States Army, Fort McPherson, Georgia.—Lt. Col. Marshell G. McBee of Cheyenne, Wyoming, has been awarded the Third U. S. Army certificate of achievement upon his reassignment to Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, where he will attend the Command and General Staff College.

Col. McBee has been Assistant Secretary of the General Staff, Headquarters Third Army since August, 1956.

He is married to the former Anna Louise Ekstrom of Cheyenne. They have two daughters, Polly Anna, 19, a student at the University of Georgia at Athens, and Kathleen Louise, 10.

The colonel is the son of Mrs. M. A. McBee of Melissa, Texas. He is a graduate of McKinney High School, and has attended Kansas State College and the University of California.

His decorations and awards include the Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Purple Heart, the Combat Infantryman Badge and numerous other awards.

The certificate, signed by Lt. Gen. Thomas F. Hickey, Third Army commander, was presented by Maj. Gen. Douglas V. Johnson Third Army chief of staff.

The certificate cited Col. McBee for "his conscientious efforts, intense interest and application to duty."

Warm Springs Field Representative Is McKinney Visitor

A clarification of the relationship between the March of Dimes (National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis) and the Gonzales Warm Springs Rehabilitation Foundation was made by Ralph Murray, Warm Springs field representative, who visited in McKinney Wednesday.

"A lot of Texans mistakenly believe that Warm Springs is operated by the March of Dimes, and they also are unaware that many patients other than polio victims are treated at Gonzales," Murray said.

The National Foundation picks up the tab for most of the polio cases treated at Warm Springs and other treatment facilities, he stated. Warm Springs, on the other hand, has its own fund-raising efforts to assure victims of strokes and accidents of all kinds as well as such diseases as cerebral palsy, muscular dystrophy, multiple sclerosis, etc, etc., that they will not be denied treatment for lack of funds.

Murray said that while the number of polio patients has naturally been reduced as the result of the Salk vaccine, he could verify the March of Dimes' assertion that rehabilitation on many "old" polio victims is a long way from complete. "We urge everyone to support the year's March of Dimes to the limit," he said.

Gonzales Warm Springs Rehabilitation Foundation is a non-profit rehabilitation center chartered under Texas laws. It is fully accredited and recognized as one of the outstanding comprehensive rehabilitation centers in the nation, Murray said.

The foundation is an agency of the Greater McKinney United und.

CORNER

By PAT SIMPSON

I made a short trip recently going over Highway 80 East of Dallas to Mineola, Texas. This was a beautiful spring day green grass was showing up and the air in general left one with the feeling of glad to be alive. I noticed on this trip that all the people I met were exceedingly polite most of them going out of their way to give me an extra amount of highway to travel on, and pulling over to let me pass without even a honk from my horn. I noticed in particular the truck drivers made a special effort to let me by as thought I was in a hurry to make some important appointment, when actually I was hurrying only to make Mineola in time for a luncheon engagement.

In Terrell, Texas a Policeman was standing on one corner helping me and other drivers to get by as quickly and safely as possible, he seemed in a very good humor and I was happier at having passed his way. Down the highway at a smaller town I stopped for a cup of coffee the waitress was very nice and seemed to take particular pains to see I was served efficiently and with good coffee.

Work was in progress at one point along the route I traveled but the workmen had posted a man just for my protection and to help me get by the detour safely and speedily, the flag man was very polite giving a nod and smile as I went on my way, I was glad to have passed this man it made my day more pleasant by having done so. Really why should the people working on this project spend time and money to have some one to help me get by?

About one year ago I traveled this same route from McKinney, Texas through Mineola, Texas. It was a wretched day this trip last year it seemed I would never reach my destination, every one I met on the highway was mad before I came along and gave me a grouch if they didn't do worse and run me off the road. The Policeman I tried to pass on the same corner gave me a sourpuss look and held me up several seconds that was uncalled for; the waitress where I stopped for a cup of coffee was in a bad mood that day and nearly gave me the screaming meanies before I could get out of the place; the flag man at the detour was just trying to hold me back to let all the others get by first; and the truck dirvers oh my why do they let the trucks use the Highways?

I pondered these two days over the same route meeting the same people about the same time of year, the same scenery and traveling time near the same. Why had I enjoyed one trip so much when the other trip had been so miserable? Perhaps I was seeing what I wanted to see on each occasion. Perhaps you will see just what you start out to see tomorrow.

A big part of our work is arranging meetings and getting people to them, in this field we get all types of excuses. One excuse we marked as acceptable was received last week. We had written a letter to a young man in Gunter, Texas, about a meeting; he called us Wednesday morning stating he had lost the letter due to the fact he had had the flu last week, his wife had given birth to a son, and he had two sows having pigs today.
